Woman's Trials.

The bitter trail in a woman's life is to be childless. Who can tell how hard the struggle may have been ere she learnt to resign herself to her lonely lot? The absence of this link to bind marital life together, the absence of this one pledge to mutual affection is a common disappointment. Many unfortunate couples become estranged thereby. Even if they do not drift apart, one may read the whole extent of their disappointment in the eyes of such a childless couple when they rest on the children of others. To them the largest family does not seem too numerous.

In many cases of barrenness or childlessness the obstacle to child-bearing is easily removed by the cure of weakness on the part of the woman. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been the means of restoring health and fruitfulness to many a barren woman, to the great joy of the household. In other, but rare cases, the obstruction to the bearing of children has been found to be of a surgical character, but easily removable by painless operative treatment at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., over which Dr. Pierce of the "Favorite Prescription" fame presides. In all cases where children are desired and are absent, an effort should be made to find out the real cause, since it is generally so easily removed by proper treatment.

In all the various weaknesses, displacements, prolapsus, inflammation and debilitating, catarrhal drains and in all cases of nervousness and debility, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the most efficient remedy that can possibly be used. It has to its credit hundreds of thousands of cures—more in fact than any other remedy put up for sale through druggists, especially for woman's use. The ingredients of which the "Favorite Prescription" is composed have received the most positive endorsement from the leading medical writers on Materia Medica of all the several schools of practice. All the ingredients are printed in plain English on the wrapper enclosing the bottle, so that any woman making use of this famous medicine may know exactly what she is taking. Dr. Pierce takes his patients into his full confidence, which he can afford to do as the formula after which the "Favorite Prescription" is made will bear the most careful examination.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best and safest laxative for women.

SOFTNESS OF SEALSKIN.

Is Rivaled by Human Hair Where Dandruff is Eradicated.

Sealskin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally as soft and glossy when healthy; and the radical cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that saps the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that is fatal to the dandruff germ. Without dandruff there is no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy, soft hair is certain. Scouring the scalp won't cure dandruff. Kill the dandruff germ. Thousands of women owe their beautiful suits of hair to Newbro's Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Suicide of a Young Woman.

Unable to bear longer the contumely brought upon herself and family by an unfortunate love affair, the daughter of a Confederate colonel, 16-year-old Effie Leavell, died early Saturday morning at the German Hospital in Philadelphia, as a result of poison which she took with suicidal intent nearly three weeks ago.

A heartbroken mother lies prostrate with grief in their home, while in the Eastern Penitentiary, James Evans is paying a five-year sentence for a crime which shocked the community about one year ago.

Deserted by even her own blood relations, Mrs. Leavell, with her three daughters, was left to fight the world alone. Col. B. F. Leavell, her husband, a wealthy orange planter, had died three years before of heart disease, having lost his fortune. With a small amount of money Mrs. Leavell had gone to Philadelphia and opened a boarding-house.

While living there a young man, who said that he would shortly fall heir to $25,000, was a frequent visitor. According to the testimony, Evans met Effie Leavell clandestinely, and one day lured her to a house, with the result that he soon found himself behind prison bars, charged with a serious offense.

The Leavells moved away from the district, but the girl brooded over her shame. About three weeks ago she called her mother to her room. "I have taken poison, mother," said the girl. "I could stand it no longer." An empty bottle of bichloride of mercury confirmed the statement. A physician was called in, and under his care the girl improved, but later had a relapse, and she died in the hospital Saturday.

Killed by Rioters.

Two members of Company D, State constabulary, located at Punxutawney, Pa., were killed, two seriously and three more slightly wounded in an encounter with rioting Italians yesterday evening. The scene of the trouble was New Florence, a small mining town, about 15 miles south of Dubois.

The trouble started when Sergeant Logan attempted to arrest an Italian game law violator, who was carousing with companions. The man took refuge with 14 other countrymen in a house and fired a volley at the constable, who then telephoned to the barracks for help. Five officers responded. Approaching the house, they received a heavy volley from the foreigners. Private Henry being killed and Private Mullen wounded.

A few moments later the State police made a gallant dash to recover Henry's body, and were met with a sharp volley. More State troops reached the battle ground. A charge was made, and the door of the house battered in. The The foreigners fired so fiercely that the troops were forced to abandon an attempt to fight their way to the second floor.

The troops retreated, carrying the body of their dead companion with them. All the available members of the troop surrounded the house and exchanged shots with the miners.

Late last night the troops were preparing to dynamite the dwelling, and more bloodshed is probable.

Buried Boy Alive.

Robert Gordon, 16 years old, yesterday confessed that he struck Joseph Reed, eight years old, with a brick, stunning him, and then buried him alive beneath a sidewalk in front of his father's home in Chicago. The boy's body was found where Gordon said he had buried it, and Gordon was arrested. The absence of the Reed boy was noticed about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon and search was begun for him. Gordon led the elder Reed through the neighborhood for several hours and about 10 o'clock Saturday night took him to where the boy was buried and assisted in digging the body up. When taken to a police station Gordon confessed that he had enticed the boy to the basement of the Reed home and mistreated him. When Reed attempted to escape Gordon struck him on the head with a brick. He then buried him alive under the sidewalk. Five other boys, ranging in age from 15 to 20 years, who had been drinking with Gordon before the crime became known, are held by the police. The Reed and Gordon families live near one another and have been friends for several years.

Discovered by Bloodhounds.

The four-year-old son of John Dowd, of Sanderfield, New York, wandered away from his mother Saturday while she was at work in George Allen's hop-yard at that place, and although searching parties scoured the country for miles around Saturday night and yesterday, no trace of the missing boy was discovered until last night at 7 o'clock, when bloodhounds came upon the child in Nine Mile Swamp, several miles from the spot where his mother last saw him. The boy was found seated on a log weeping and greatly weakened from lack of food and his exertions, but otherwise none the worse for his experience. The child had wandered about in the swamp all Saturday night and most of yesterday seeking a path that would lead him back to his home. His parents had concluded that he was drowned, but others thought he had been kidnapped.

Third Annual September Sale of Furniture.

33 1-3 to 50 per cent. below actual value.

Today we begin our Third Annual September Furniture Sale. Introduced as an innovation two years ago, these sales have so amply rewarded our efforts that we have determined to make them a permanent feature of our yearly events—giving equally careful thought to their preparation as we bestow upon our other notable annual sales.

With the usual discrimination and care with which our purchases are always made, our buyer personally visited the factories and selected only that high grade of furniture which is compatible with our standard—this demands even of the best manufacturers that class of construction, finish and guaranteed durability which mark our requirements in furniture, either made to order or bought from the regular stock.

This sale is designed to meet the requirements of all tastes, and in its scope includes furniture of such variety as to make possible the execution of any furnishing plan determined for the home. And it is our pleasure and good fortune to offer furnishings of service and durability, as well as of decorative value, at such prices as will fulfill the economic ideas of the housekeeper.

That enduring quality in material and design which lends character to the furnishings of a house is an essential feature in all the furniture offered in this sale.

Appropriateness is another feature for which we have provided, and our lines of furniture are broad in variety and generous in price concessions. Excellent values are offered in furniture for parlor, dining-room, bedroom, library and office.

This furniture ranges in style from simplicity to quiet elegance, from usefulness to beauty, and yet combines both, as we cater also to the artistic, as well as to the practical and serviceable sides of the house furnishing.

Our Furniture Department is conveniently located on the sixth and seventh floors of the G street building, in commodious quarters, which afford ample space and light in which to display to the best advantage this new stock.

Alexandria Gazette
SIC SEMPER TYRANNIS
AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

MONDAY EVENING, SEPT. 3, 1906.

A BELATED speech on the tariff, purporting to have been delivered by Congressman McCleary on June 25, has just been published in a special number of the Congressional Record. The reason for holding it back until now is evident, for it could not be published until President Roosevelt had decided to stand pat, as the speech took the position that the President was on the same ground as the protective tariff league, which advances the idea that the tariff law is a sacred contract with the trust and combines that it would be wicked to abrogate. The publication now of this belated speech gives an inside history of the factional fight in the republican party, over tariff revision. For when this speech purports to have been delivered, both the tariff reform faction and the ultra protectionists were claiming the President as on their side of the issue and it was not until the now famous stand-pat agreement between Speaker Cannon and the President at Oyster Bay was consummated that it was known which faction should really claim him. The McCleary speech was evidently held in abeyance until the standpatters captured the President. There is no doubt that the protective tariff league, with its influential backers, the trust monopolists, had been diligently "working" President Roosevelt, to show him that to persist in advocating tariff revision would "split the party" and leave him only a comparatively small following. That argument was too much for Mr. Roosevelt and he surrendered to the standpat faction and the McCleary speech was let loose on the unfortunate republican voters.

CONGRESSMAN MAYNARD, of the Norfolk district, in explaining to his constituents last week the reason he had offered a bill to increase the salary of the President from $50,000 to $100,000, said the President received a much greater sum than the last mentioned when all the perquisites were taken into consideration, and that his object was to give the President a salary sufficient for him to pay his own expenses and to cut off the "extras". If Mr. Maynard's bill had become a law and the President been required to comply strictly to its provisions the country would have saved money, as will be seen by the following itimized statement of the expenses of the President:

The salary of the President is $50,000. President's traveling expenses $25,000, secretary to the President $5,000, other employes in executive office $61,000, contingent expenses $20,000, care and refurnishing White House $35,000, repairs to White House $35,000, fuel for White House $6,000, care of greenhouses $9,000, repairs to greenhouses $3,000, maintenance of White House grounds $4,000, policeman at White House $40,000, secret service men $4,000, naval yacht Mayflower $150,000, naval yacht Sylph $25,000. Total, $472,000.

THE YEARLY trade of the South American States with other foreign countries now aggregates $700,000,000. It is well worth fighting for. But how much of it is this country likely to secure as long as the tariff bars are kept up against South American products that are needed as feeders of our own industries? The policy of coaxing trade by subsidies which we at the same time repel by embargoes falls down in the statement. It deludes nobody, not even the advocates of a home owned merchant marine, who howl about lost trade while they scheme to secure unearned bounties.

COTTON is king in the export record of the United States for the fiscal year just ended, and the South is rapidly coming to her own again. The total value of raw cotton exported for the first time crossed the $400,000,000 line, and exceeded by far the value of any other article of merchandise sent out of the country. The exports of breadstuffs of all kinds aggregated but $186,000,000, those of provisions but $211,000,000 and those of iron and steel manufactures but $161,000,000.

A DISPATCH sent out from Norfolk says it is very probable that Emperor William of Germany will visit the Jamestown Exposition next year. The managers of the exposition should frown upon such attempts at humbugging the public. Emperor William has no more idea of coming to this country than he has of going to the moon, and all sane people know it if they would but think a minute.

IN A letter to Charles A. Stillings, public printer at Washington, just made public, President Roosevelt wrote that if the changes in spelling advocated by the Simplified Spelling Board and put into use in official documents meet popular approval they will be made permanent. If not, he wrote, they will be dropped. The new spelling has not proved popular and should be dropped at once.

THE GARDEN hose has been entirely lost sight of this summer.

A PREACHER IN Bremer county, Iowa, has invoked the law to prevent the women workers in the beet sugar industry from wearing trousers while at work. The women have struck rather than wear skirts, which interfere with their movements. The local Justices of the Peace refuse to prosecute, but the church people say that the wearing of male nether garments by the women is immoral. The settlement of the question between church and State is awaited with interest.

Washington, Sept. 3

Labor Day is being observed here by many people as a holiday. All the departments are closed, as are many of the public offices and stores. The regatta at Georgetown attracted a large crowd, as did also the ball games, etc. Large numbers of people left the city to spend the day, and many Alexandrians were seen on the streets here.

Rev. Madison C. Peters in his sermon in the Baptist Church of the Ephiphany yesterday, having in mind the latest financial scandal in Philadelphia, said: "Steal a dollar and the world will kick you, steal a million and the world will feel honored by being kicked by you. It is nearly always safe to be a big thief.

The army transport Sheridan, which is stranded on Barbers Point, off Oahu, near Honolulu, will probably be a total loss unless wrecking apparatus reaches her in time. Any storm or heavy seas occurring in the meantime will probably complete her destruction. She is lying afloat fore and aft, balanced on a rock, stowed through her midship. Yesterday tugs endeavored to pull her off, dragged her sixty feet when the hawsers broke. The War Department is hurring wrecking apparatus to her as speedily as possible. It will be sent on the steamer Korea, which leaves San Francisco tomorrow.

Stensland Arrested.

Tangier, Morocco, Sept. 3.—Paul O. Stensland, the Chicago banker, who is wanted for wrecking the Milwaukee Avenue State Bank, was arrested here this morning by Attorney Olsen, of Chicago, who pursued Stensland through England and Spain.

Washington, Sept. 3.—Banker Paul O. Stensland, the defaulting president of the Milwaukee Avenue State Bank of Chicago, who was arrested at Tangier, Morocco, yesterday, was apparently well acquainted with the countries with which the United States has or has no extradition treaties. There is no such treaty between the United States and Morocco, and there is a possibility that although he is now in custody he may escape. U. S. Minister Gummere has notified the State Department that Stensland is detained at Tangier and that he is awaiting instruction from the department as to his future course of action. If Stensland is to be sent back to this country through the aid of the Sultan it will be purely a matter of courtesy on the part of the Moroccan ruler. In the meantime it is expected that the governor of Illinois will make some representations to the Moroccan government in the case.

Stensland left Gibraltar for the eastern coast of Africa at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, just one hour and forty minutes before Assistant State's Attorney Harry Olsen arrived, after trailing him from America to England, thence to Gibraltar, and then to Ronda, where he saw a bullfight; to Robadella, Granada, Seville, and other Spanish towns. Stensland traveled under the alias of P. Olsen, of Norway.

The bank wrecker left Gibraltar on the German tramp steamer Oldenburg. He went on board at noon yesterday. At first it was thought the Oldenburg would not sail until today, and if it had not the State's attorney would have pulled him off at daylight. Stensland escaped by an eyelash. The State's attorney went to Tangier Saturday, and Stensland arrived at Gibraltar two hours after the former sailed.

The boat on which Mr. Olsern was returning passed the boat on which Stensland was going six miles out of Gibraltar. Olsen passed so close that he could distinguish the passengers on deck. If Stensland had eluded capture in the next few days he would have come to a sudden halt in his travels because of a lack of money. It has been discovered that he had $12,000 in a bank in Tangier. Steps were taken by Mr Oslen to tie this money up, and if possible restore it to the swindled depositors.

The story of a woman scorned led to the finding of Stensland's trail. One of his numerous friends, who thought she had been shabbily treated, gave the first hint as to the fugitive's whereabouts. Her information was indefinite, but investigation proved its probable accuracy.

Finally, on August 18, it became certain that he was in Tangier, and had been for sixteen days.

He t. d from Chicago on Sunday, July 12, went direct to New York, and took the White Star star steamer, sailing on Tuesday for Liverpool, and stayed in that city two days. Stensland then took the P. & O. boat, reaching Gibraltar on July 27. There he immediately took the boat for Tangier, on the northern coast of Africa.

The Gan-Nelson Fight Today.

Goldfield, Nev., Sept. 3.—All Goldfield is ready for the battle between Joe Gans and Battling Nelson, for the lightweight championship, this afternoon. The fighters are here ready to enter the ring when the hour arrives. The conditions of the fight are apparently really settled so that even Billy Nolan can think of no concessions to demand of his protege's dusky opponent, and the people are ready.

New York, Sept. 3.—The following are the opinions of a few of the leading lights in the world of sports on the probable outcome of today's battle at Goldfield, Nev., for the lightweight championship between Battling Nelson and Joe Gans: Jim Jeffries—Gans will be the winner, no matter how long they fight. Bob Fitzsimmons—I expect to see Gans put Nelson to sleep inside of four rounds. Jim Corbett—Gans never had an equal, and is so much better than Nelson, that you can't dope them. John L. Sullivan—I pick Joe Gans as winner in six rounds by a knockout.

Gans still rules 10 to 8 in the betting. The latest reports from his camp have given his supporters reason to continue their offers at these odds. Even then little Nelson money has been put up this morning. Altogether, however, it is asserted that fully $200,000 in money has been bet and as much more in mining claims.

Men who were involved with Frank K. Hipple in the wrecking of the Real Estate Trust Company in Philadelphia are to be brought to account, it is reported. Receiver Earle put certain evidence in the hands of the district attorney yesterday looking to that end.

Labor Troubles in Washington.

One week ago the intelligence was conveyed to the public by the Master Builders' Association and the building trades that the labor troubles which had menaced the building industry of Washington for several weeks were to be amicably adjusted by a board of arbitration. Their grounds for announcing that the possibility of a uniform strike among the members of the building trades was averted were based upon a written agreement to which both the Master Plumbers' Association and Journeyman Plumbers' Union, No. 5, had affixed signatures providing for arbitration. After the expiration of one week, during which time the Master Plumbers' Association has failed to announced its arbitrators, it is authoritatively given out by the building trades that negotiations for peace will be off if arbitrators are not chosen by tomorrow.

MR. BRYAN.

Mr. Bryan made several speeches Saturday in which he sharply attacked his critics in his own party.

Before three score prominent democrats of New York city and two democratic governors of States he delivered himself of a speech which was considered by its hearers as being at the same time a vindication of his political opinions and defiance to possible insurgents in the party.

He said: "I tell you now, gentlemen, that I would rather have the approval of my own conscience than the approval of all the people in the United States. If the politicians do not agree with my course, it worries me little; the people that I want to convince are the voters of this country and not the politicians who pretend to dictate to these voters while in reality they truckle to them.

"Some of my enemies say I am rich; that I belong to the moneyed classes. I have a long string of clippings at home showing how much money I've got. Well, gentlemen, I give those clippings to my wife and she goes down to the store and gets credit on them. The republican party has amended the commandment to read. 'Thou shalt not steal on a small scale.'"

In Jersey City Mr. Bryan said he would insist that no man connected with a corporation be permitted to serve with the democratic organization or be a democratic candidate for public office.

Mr. Bryan and Governor Folk met and arranged to talk things over.

President Roosevelt's popularity he attributed to his having followed out democratic policies.

Mr. Bryan was asked yesterday to explain further the statements made by him at the dinner given him by newspaper men on Saturday night to the effect that he had known five years before the insurance investigation that the big companies involved were following irregular practices.

"Seventeen years ago," he replied, "a New York newspaper man told me enough about the irregularities that he knew to be going on in the conduct of the business of the 'Big Four' to lead me to withdraw the insurance I carried with one of those companies and place it elsewhere. I believe that more than half of the men who sat down to dinner with me last night knew five years ago that the big companies had interlocked and were making fortunes by the shifting of the funds."

Mr. Bryan left New York for his home last night.

Letter to John A. Marshall and Bro.

Alexandria Virginia,

Dear Sirs—How did you get your business? we'll tell tow we got ours. You sell shoes, we make paint; perhaps we can do a good turn to ourselves, you and we, by swapping experiences.

We began 152 years ago in a little shop a few minutes walk from where we are now; a great many things have happened, we don't remember them all. We made as good paint as we could and learned to make better. We are the oldest now; we don't know whether we had any teacher or not; it's so long ago; if we had, he's gone and forgotten. We should have been forgotten, if we hadn't made good paint and friends.

You buy your shoes; you have an advantage in that; if you make a mistake, you can stop it quick. We've had to go slow; it's hard to pick-out one's own mistakes, and nothing but fun to correct the mistakes of others.

You know where to go for leather that keeps its shape, feels good, looks new, and wears a long time. What a comfort it is to be comfortable from making one's customers comfortable!

We also have a unique advantage—unique, you know, means that nobodyelse has anything like it. We make a strong paint that takes less gallons, saves half the cost of painting your house, and it's like that leather of yours for wear. It is all paint and the strongest of paint. Paint is usually adulterated and weak.

We're very old, but we make young paint! one gallon is better than two, if it has the stuff in it. Yours truly,

F W DEVOE & Co.

The Naval Review.

New York, Sept. 3.

Much to the disappointment of the thousands of spectators and participants in the great naval spectacle day break was accompanied by a downpour of rain.

About three o'clock this morning the storm broke over the fleet. It was accompanied by a display of lightning, and a roar of thunder. Though there was some wind, no damage was reported from the ships of the fleet.

The rain ceased about six o'clock, and though there was an occasional drizzle from that time on until the hour set for the start of the show, the weather prophets agreed that the worst of the storm was over and predicted sunshine and plenty of it by noon.

Oyster Bay, September 3.—President Roosevelt today reviewed the largest fleet of modern American warships ever assembled in United States waters. Off the entrance of Oyster Bay, there were drawn up for his inspection three lines of battleships, etc., representing the flower of the American navy. Auxiliary vessels were present carrying reserves of 7,400 tons of coal, 2,500 tons of provisions, and 600,000 gallons of water. Every branch of the navy was represented in the combined squadrons. The cruisers ranged on the outside to do the scouting, the monitors for coast defense, the battleships to do the heavy work, with torpedo boats and submarines to back them up and to perform duty between the ships and the coast and protect the supposed base of supplies where the auxiliaries were anchored.

There were forty vessels from big battleships to tiny submarines, not counting the five auxiliary ships; the Secretary of the Navy's flagship the Dolphin and the cruiser Des Moines which carries the interested observers from foreign countries. Upon the forty ships are 1,178 guns, 812 officers, and 15,235 men. The ships began arriving early Sunday morning and took up their designated positions with intervals of 450 feet between each. President Roosevelt was on board his flagship, the Mayflower, at 10:30 and promptly at the scheduled time, 10:45, that vessel started on her tour of inspection. With the President were Secretary of the Navy Bonaparte, Assistant Secretary Newberry, his naval aide Lieut. Commander Key, and a few especially invited friends. As the Mayflower approached the fleet it presented a beautiful sight. The vessels lay at anchor in three columns stretching almost as far as the eye could see. From stem to stern vari-colored flags fluttered over each vessel giving them a gala appearance. A picket line of ships' cutters, each flying a red flag and with crews of man-o-wars' men surrounded the entire fleet to keep off the excursion steamers and yachts which were present in numbers. As soon as the Mayflower reached within signalling distance of the fleet the President's flag was suddenly broken out from the top of her mainmast, officially announcing his arrival. At this signal the six-pounder guns from the battleships and cruisers in line began belching forth smoke and flame in salute to the Chief. This was repeated 21 times from each vessel until a total of over 500 guns had been fired. To this commotion the Mayflower responded by dipping her flag.

The first vessel passed by the President was the cruiser Des Moines. This vessel had been especially assigned to carry the foreign naval attaches who wanted to attend the review. The Des Moines also had on board members of the Senate and House naval committees. For the first time in the history of the American navy the fleet to be reviewed remained at anchor while the reviewing officer, in this case the President of the United States, sailed by them on his ship inspecting them on both sides.

Rear Admiral Evans's flagship, the Maine, was at the head of the central, or main column. Passing the Maine on her starboard quarter, the Mayflower passed successively the battleships Maine, Missouri, Kentucky, Kearsarge, Louisiana, Rhode Island, New Jersey, and Virginia and the monitors Puritan, Nevada, Florida and Arkansas. On her port side were the torpedo boat destroyers Whipple, Worden, Truxton, Hopkins, Lawrence, Macdonough, and the torpedo boats Wilkes, Tingey, Rodgers, Stockton, Blakely and DeLong. The submarine torpedo boats Porpoise, Shark and the tender Nina were anchored off the starboard bows of the Whipple. As the stern of the Mayflower passed well clear of the saluting guns on each of the large vessels the President was given his salute of 21 guns. All officers were in full dress uniform and as the President passed each ship the sailors ranged alongside with arms locked in rigid lines to give him the naval honors. There was a continuous cannonading of six-pounders from the big ships as he passed down the line.

At the end of the three mile run the Mayflower rounded the stern of the monitor Arkansas and at the western end of the line passed up on the port side, successively, of the cruisers Denver, Cleveland, Tacoma, Minneapolis, the armored cruisers Maryland, Colorado, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia, and the battleships, Iowa, Indiana, Illinois, and Alabama. Passing then across the entire front of the fleet the Mayflower steamed down the outside or starboard side of the torpedo boats and then up the lane between the monitors, cruisers and battleships, passing the Maine on her port side, and proceeded to her anchorage at the head of the fleet.

The review lasted about two hours and a half. As soon as the Mayflower dropped her anchors launches from the Maine and other flagships began steaming towards her bring the flag officers, division commanders and commanding officers of the fleet to pay their respects to the President. Admiral Evans was the first to arrive and the others followed in order of their seniority. At 1:30 o'clock a luncheon was served by the president to them and to the invited guests. Later the President visited the Maine, Alabama, West Virginia and Louisiana, being received at each ship with the utmost formality and the customary gun-firing.

The review ended about four o'clock when the President returned to Oyster Bay. To night the warships will be electrically illuminated and the sky will be made gay with the searchlights of the larger vessels. Tomorrow the fleet will disperse to their several destinations.

Dynamited Italians' Stronghold.

Punxsutawney Pa., Sept 3.—The bloodiest fight in which the state constabulary has thus far engaged came to an end at four o'clock this morning, when a stronghold in which Italian members of the supposed Black Hand had taken refuge was dynamited and then burned to the ground. But before this dynamite chapter of a tragedy at Florence, a mining town seven miles from here, was enacted, three lives had been shot out and a fourth was hanging in the balance. Captain Robinson arrived late in the night and it was determined finally to dynamite the house in which the Italians were thought to have a good supply of ammunition. A dozen sticks of the stuff were secured and a bombardment of the house fort began. Sticks of the explosive were set off. The Italians continued to fire on the constabulary until finally one corner of the house had been shattered sufficiently to permit of a firebrand being thrown in. The firing ceased, suggesting that the house was deserted or that its occupants had been killed or wounded. Believing this to be the case Capt Robinson ordered a rush on the house fort. A shattered door was pushed in and the troopers found the fort nearly deserted. Only two foreigners were left of all the crowd which it was believed had given the police so much trouble, and these offered no resistance. They were quickly placed under arrest, and the house searched. Upstairs a dead Italian was found with a bullet through his head. Next they found the body of private Zehringer. The dead were removed and the house was burned. The other Italians are under arrested. It is believed that a number escaped during the night. Just as the constabulary left the burning house a noise was heard in the attic. They fired several shots through the ceiling and retired. Later, when the house was burned to a shell, two bodies were seen to fall from the attic floor to the ruins below. It will be impossible to search the embers for several hours.

Danced at His Great-granddaughter's Wedding.

New York, Sept. 3.—Wolf Weisman, 105 years old, danced at the wedding of his great-granddaughter, Miss Anna Schecter, who was married yesterday afternoon to Max Senken. The patriarch circled the room with his arm around the bride's waist, watched by forty great-grandchildren, eighteen grandchildren and four of his own children, one a son past eighty and who looked older than his father. The great-grandfather did not astonish by his lancing his descendants. He came to this country 18 years ago, and although well on to ninety passed easily for sixty. After he was ninety-five Wolf Weisman's mind was bright and clear and he used no artificial aid for his vision. He was wrinkled and bent, but his powers of endurance were extraordinary and in his hundredth year a ten mile walk was an ordinary exercise. Wolf Weisman said after the dance, as he patted a fifteen year old great-granddaughter on the cheek, that he would dance at her wedding two years hence.

The Northwest Passage.

London, Sept. 3.—The northwest passage, for which intrepid seamen have searched in vain for centuries, has at last been discovered, according to the correspondent of the Central News at Christiania, who wires today that the Norweigan polar expedition under Captain Amundsen, which sailed aboard the exploring ship Gjoa has reached Behring sea. The Gjoa expedition sailed from Christiania on June 17, 1903. Captain Amundsen's purpose was not to make another effort to force the long dreamed off northwest passage, but to search for the magnetic pole. If the report from Christiania that the Gjoa has reached Behring sea is true, he has apparently stumbled on the passage through the northwestern seas, or purposely voyaged in that direction after concluding the search for the magnetic pole.

Five Yards of Diamonds.

London, Sept. 3.—All the jewels in London have been eclipsed by a hand some diamond necklace which Lady Tweedale, the beautiful Italian wife of an octogenarian peer, is wearing at court functions. This necklace is five yards long, and every diamond in it is of unusual size and brilliance. Everybody has been to estimate its value. When the peeress winds it about her olive-tinted neck and shoulders and get into the full glare of the light, she sparkles with a radiance that is dazzling. The wonderful string of pearls with which Mrs. William B Leed drove shafts of envy into every femanine heart at Newport is as nothing to the Tweedale necklace.

Fourteen Persons Injured by a Bomb.

St. Louis Sept. 3.—Fourteen people were hurt, several seriously and two probably fatally, by the late explosion of a bomb sent up to announce the moving of the labor union parade. Two bombs sent up exploded in the air as designed, but the third went up 500 feet, fell back to the pavement and exploded in the crowd. Fragments of the shell went in all directions. People fell over one another in their rush to get out of the way, but many were caught by the flying missiles. One man was struck in the abdomen, and literally cut open. He was sent to the city hospital in a dying condition.

Killed at a Funeral.

Warsaw, Poland, Sept. 3.—A fight for the possession of a red flag carried in a funeral procession between Cossacks and workingmen, resulted in the killing of six persons and wounding of twenty-two at Radiguscowzka yesterday. Workingmen who attended the funeral of a comrade unfurled a red flag and carried it at the head of the procession. Cossacks attempted to seize the emblem of revolution and anarchy, but the workingmen defended it. The Cossacks rode down many persons and used their swords and other weapons with deadly effect. Eventually the marchers were routed with casualties as stated before.

Reported Death of Herman Oelrichs.

Newport R. I., Sept. 3.—A dispatch received here today from San Francisco stated that Herman Oelrichs, formerly of Newport, and prominent in social circles here and New York, had died suddenly on board a steamer. The name of the steamer or her destination was not given. Mr. Oelrichs was born in Baltimore, Md., June 8, 1850. He in 1875 became a member of the firm of Oelrichs & Co. American agents of the North German Lloyd Steamship Line. In 1887 he became the senior member of the firm. Mr. Oelrichs has been a member of the national democratic committee.

Rome, Sept. 3—Owing to differences reported to have arisen among delegates from different countries to the congregation of the Society of Jesus in regard to the election of the new general of the Jesuit Order, the chances of an American priest, Father Rudolph Meyer, of St. Louis, being chosen to the position are regarded as being greatly improved.

Reappearance of the Ark.

The ark which was towed from the river a short distance from Jones's Point to Washington last week is at its old anchorage again having been towed there Saturday evening, passengers being carried to and fro by the tugboat Bartholdi. It is alleged that gambling is conducted on the houseboat and there has recently been much speculation as to the lability of those who conduct the floating Monte Carlo. Commonwealth's Attorney Brent says that the gamblers come to Alexandria on the ferryboat and trolleys cars and board the steamer Bartholdi, which conveys them to the ark from the King street wharf. If such is the case Mr. Brent thinks that the inception of the crime is in this city and the Alexandria police have full jurisdiction He says they can arrest every one on the boat before it leaves the wharf here if they have reason to believe that their destination is a place in which the laws of the State are to be violated. Mr. Brent further says that he cannot understand why the Alexandria police department has been so inactive.

Mr. Brent has announced his intention to act in the matter if the Alexandria police fail to do so.

W., A. & Mt. V. Ry. Not Involved.

The Washington, Alexandria and Mount Vernon Railway Company will in no way became involved in the affairs of the wrecked Real Estate and Trust Company of Philadelphia, whose president, the late Frank K. Hipple, was killed by a train at a railway crossing of the road. At the office of the Philadelphia of the president of the railroad, Clarence P. King, it was emphatically stated that the suicide of Hipple and the downfall of the trust company would have no effect on the road whatever The policy of the Washington, Alexandria and Mount Vernon would be continued as heretofore. The company, it was announced, stood ready to meet the interest on outstanding bonds of the road, and all holders of stock could collect the interest due at the Real Estate Trust Company office upon presentation at the office of the Trust Company of North America, in Philadelphia.

Cutting Affrays.

Late Saturday night the neighborhood of north Henry street was aroused by the cries of a colored women named Sadie Robertson, who had been attacked by a negro named Patrick McClain. The latter was armed with a knife and he made a lunge at the woman, the knife cutting through her clothing but merely grazing the flesh. Chief Goods and Officers Nicholson and Smith arrested the assailant and he was brought before Justice Caton in the Police Court this morning where he was fined $10.

On Saturday night there was a difficulty in the northwestern section of the city between a darkey known as "Six" Betts and James Johnson, also colored, which the latter was seriously cut by Betts. Chief Goods and Officers Nicholson and Smith subsequently arrested the assailant and he was brought before Justice Caton in the Police Court this morning where he was fined $20 in the Police Court this morning.

Charged with Perjury.

Lucy Grove, the young woman who attacked Justice of the Peace August Henning at Vienna, Fairfax county, last Wednesday, because he had decided against her in a case where she charged Eugene Hall with attempted assault, was arrested Saturday on a warrant charging perjury, which was sworn out by Hall. The charges of perjury preferred against Miss Grove are said to be based upon her affidavit for a warrant against Hall and upon her testimony before Justice Henning when Hall had his preliminary examination. In view of the great feeling existing in the community, Justice Henning said yesterday that he did not expect to sit as the magistrate at the preliminary hearing of Miss Grove on the perjury charges.

Drowned.

A young man named Jesse Cameron, or Bolton, was drowned from the barge Daniel, Capt. Robey, last Saturday morning near the mouth of Upper Machodoc. Cameron was at the bow of the boat, which was "beating" up the river, attending to the jib. He was seized with an epileptic fit while so employed and fell backward overboard. Capt. Robey witnessed the accident and immediately anchored the vessel. A small boat was lowered and every exertion made to rescue the young man, but he did not rise to the surface. Cameron was an orphan and he came to this city from lower Fairfax several years ago. He was well-known in the southern section of the city. He had been subject to epilepsy since a child.

Labor Day.

Labor Day has been generally observed hereabouts today. A number of outings had been planned for the holiday. The excursion steamers have transported large numbers to and from the different river resorts, while many have patronized the railroads. An elaborate programme had been prepared for Luna Park, where new and interesting features have been introduced. The banks and government and city offices were closed and the postoffice observed holiday hours, one collection in the afternoon and one delivery in the morning. A double header baseball game was played on the old fair grounds between the Old Dominion baseball team and the Invincibles.

Pleasant Sunday.

Yesterday was a pleasant Sunday, the first for nearly three months. A stiff southerly breeze prevailed all day, which kept the temperature at a comfortable point. Many people were consequently on the streets or walking in the suburbs. The trains and ferry steamers transported large numbers of persons.

Case Continued.

New Norfolk Line.

Sometime ago it was reported that efforts were being made to start a new line of steamers between Washington, Alexandria and Norfolk. At that time parties representing the new company were looking for terminals. It can now be positively stated that they are negotiating for the purchase of wharf property in Alexandria, and that there is every reason to believe that it is the purpose of the projectors to place a new line of steamers on the route. The company have two fine lake steamers in readiness, and as soon as arrangements can be made for purchasing a suitable wharf, they will be brought to the Potomac. These boats, it is claimed, can make 20 miles an hour. Two lines of steamers were on the Norfolk route in 1879—the steamers Lady of the Lake and Jane Moseley, of the Inland and Seaboard Transportation Company, and the George Leary of the Potomac Steamboat Company. These lines were continued almost up to the time the Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company built their new steamers Washington and Norfolk, in 1891.

Italian Murdered.

Placito Albanese, an Italian repairman on the Pennsylvania Railroad, was murdered Monday night in his shanty lodgings, near Gap, Pa., in the presence of 15 of his countrymen. The 16 were asleep when four Italians entered, and while one stood guard at the door the others, with drawn revolvers and stilettos, proceeded to rob the men. All submitted without resistance except Albanese, who denied he had $15 secreted about his person, as charged by the robbers. A struggle ensued, during which Albanese received 15 knife thrusts in the chest and a bullet in the shoulder. One knife thrust over the heart caused his death. He defended himself with a razor, and is believed to have slashed one of the robbers. During this melee the other Italians were kept in subjection by the robber standing guard at the door, who covered them with a revolver. The robbers made their escape, but a posse has been organized and is in pursuit.

Secretary Shaw's Itinerary.

Secretary Shaw has outlined a long speech-making itinerary in the South. He first plans to canvass Virginia, which he trusts the republican party will ultimately win in a national election. After a tour in Virginia the Secretary will speak on the afternoon of September 10 at Winston-Salem, N. C., and the same evening at Salisbury; on September 11 at Statesville and on September 12 at Asheville. Secretary Shaw will continue on into Tennessee, speaking at Knoxville the evening of September 13, at Nashville September 14 and at Memphis September 15. He will then proceed to Missouri, where he will begin his campaign September 17, making 12 speeches and spending an entire week in that State.

A Scientific Wonder.

The cures that stand to its credit make Bucklen's Arnica Salve a scientific wonder. It cured E. R. Mulford, lecturer for the Patrons of Husbandry, Waynesboro, Pa., of a distressing case of Piles. It heals the worst Burns, Sores, Boils, Ulcers, Cuts, Wounds Chilblains and Salt Rheum. Only 25c at E. S. Leadbeater & Sons' drug store.

A Fatal Blow.

Charles Origler, aged fourteen years, was killed at Linville, Rockingham county, four miles north of Harrisonburg, late Saturday night. Origler was struck over the heart by Clay Campbell, a ten-year-old boy. Origler was killed while playing in front of Rhode's store in the center of the village. He and Campbell were boxing, according to the best information obtainable. He struck Campbell a severe blow directly over the heart. Origler staggered for a moment and then fell to the ground. He was carried to the store a short distance away, where he expired without regaining consciousness.
